

HE'S WEARY OF DODGING.

Pat Crowe Offers to Surrender and Stand Trial For the Cudahy Kidnaping.

HE SAYS ALL HE ASKS IS A FAIR TRIAL

He Makes a Condition That He be Not Locked Up Until Declared Guilty by Jury, and Offers to Give a Bond of Five Hundred Dollars, But Says That Is His Limit.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 14.—Chief-of-Police John J. Donahue yesterday received a letter from Pat Crowe, naming the terms on which he will surrender. The letter came in care of an Omaha newspaper, in which it is published, and covers 15 closely-written pages of manuscript. The postmark is illegible, but the letter was mailed at eight o'clock in the morning and reached this city at eight in the evening of the same day, indicating that it had not traveled a long distance.

In the letter Crowe agrees to give himself up at once and stand trial for the kidnaping of Eddie Cudahy provided he is not locked up until a jury shall adjudge him guilty. He says he is unable to furnish bond in excess of $500, and demands that bail be fixed in that sum.

Chief Donahue, when asked his opinion of the genuineness of the letter, expressed himself as quite satisfied that it came from Crowe. Donahue has known Crowe for several years and is acquainted with his manner, handwriting and style of speech.

The chief also received, yesterday, a letter from Crowe's uncle, at Manchester, Ia., submitting similar terms for Crowe's surrender, which lead the police to believe that they are dealing with the right man.

Crowe's letter to Chief Donahue begins as follows:

"J. J. Donahue, Chief of Police Omaha, Neb.—Dear Sir: Nearly a year has passed by since I was accused of the Cudahy kidnaping. A large reward has been offered, and plenty of time has been given for the police and detectives to have made me a prisoner. So far they have failed to do it.

"Now, I wish to make a short statement to you and the public."

Crowe then takes the detective agencies to task, defying them to attempt his arrest, and continues:

"Now, Mr. Donahue, let me tell you, all I ask is justice, a fair trial by 12 men, citizens of Douglass county, Nebraska. Not by Herod, or any of his kind. Their god is gold and with that power they rule the world.

"Donahue, all I ask is a square deal. Grant my request and I will give myself up."

"Mr. Cudahy has known me for 13 years. He now believes me guilty. Nevertheless, I think he will give me a fair trial, as all he wants is the public to know the truth."

He then expresses confidence that the county attorney and sheriff will give him a fair trial, and says he has known Gov. Savage ever since he was a barefooted boy on the farm in Iowa, and says the governor has identified him at banks in South Omaha when Crowe was in business there.

The letter expresses regret that he has fallen into ill repute, and then says down the conditions of his surrender, as follows:

"Now, Mr. Donahue, I will give myself up to you if you will promise me upon your word of honor that I will not be locked up until the jury says guilty. And if the jury says that I am I will take my punishment like a man, without a murmur.

"I can give a bond for $500 and that is all. If the court will not accept that I will remain a fugitive from justice."

"Your answer to this must bear the signatures of Edward Cudahy, Gov. Savage, Sheriff John Power, Attorney Shields, Chief J. J. Donahue and the judge that fixes the bond."

"Mr. Donahue, I want you to understand that I am not afraid of the combined wealth of all the Cudahys on the earth and the united efforts of all the scrub detectives that their money can hire. A man that tries to pinch me will bite the dust, for I am ready to die in the mix. I will not be kangarooed."

"You say it is your business to deal out justice. I will take you at your word. Give me a square deal. Leave it to a jury of 12 citizens."

"Chief, I ask, but I do not expect to get justice. There is someone who wants to put me away, and I know the god of gold."

The letter then states that the chief would not know him; that he weighs 200 pounds and is looking fine. He says he has been in South Africa, fighting with the Boers, and expresses his disgust with Great Britain and his sympathy for the Boers. He closes the main part of his letter by saying he regrets that Mr. Cudahy should suspect him of kidnaping the boy, and hoping soon to receive a reply from the chief, which he directs should be made through a local paper.

This part is signed "Pat Crowe," but the signature is partly erased, and four pages of postscript added, in which Crowe says if his offer is not accepted he will return to a foreign country, from which he will probably never come back. He signs the postscript with the name "Pat Crowe."

Received a Draft from South Africa.

St. Joseph, Mo., Oct. 14.—Several months ago a prominent attorney of this city, who had formerly been employed by Pat Crowe, received a draft from Crowe from South Africa for legal services rendered.

CANNOT LIONIZE CZOLGOSZ.

Cranks of So-Called Philanthropists Wanting Their Time in President McKinley's Assassination.

Albany, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Superintendent Cornelius V. Collins will send a request to Secretary of State Hay to designate an official representative of the government to be present at the electrocution of Leon F. Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley. Only 23 witnesses will be present in the chamber of death when the sentence is executed.

Since his confinement in Auburn prison several thousand letters have been received for him at the prison as well as a large number of express packages containing flowers and fruit. The letters, flowers nor fruit have ever reached the condemned man. The flowers and fruit, it is learned, have been sent by Christian societies, as have a number of letters consoling him in his last moments. Other letters have come from cranks who have written about the species of torture to which they would put him if they had the execution of justice in his case. It is stated, however, that it would be a matter of surprise if the names of senders of fruit and flowers were made public.

BETRAYED BY A LETTER.

D. G. Mundell Arrested at Williams, Ia., as Accomplice to a Post Office Robbery.

Webster City, Ia., Oct. 13.—J. G. Mundell was arrested at Williams, 12 miles east of here, as an accomplice of the man arrested in Chicago, a few days ago, with $1,500 worth of postage stamps on his person. The clew which led to the arrest was the discovery of letters found on the person of the Chicago man, written by Mundell, requesting his friend to write to him at Williams, Ia. Government officers had been shadowing the Williams post office for several days.

THE DEADLY BLACK DAMP.

Father and Two Sons Meet Death From Black Damp in a Coal Mine.

Connellsville, Pa., Oct. 14.—Three lives went out in a little air shaft, only two feet in diameter and 20 feet deep, but filled with deadly black damp at the mines of the Juniata Coal Co., near Juniataville, yesterday. The dead are: John Gilleland, a miner aged 50, and his two sons, James and Winfield, aged 11 and 15, respectively. All three bodies were recovered, but in the effort John Nicholson, mine foreman at Juniataville, and John Baker, a mine fire boss, were seriously overcome by black damp.

WIFE AND HIRED MAN.

They are Charged with Poisoning John Black, a Wealthy Montana Rancher.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 13.—A Bozeman (Mont.) special to the Dispatch says: John Black, a wealthy rancher, resident of Gallatin valley, died, Friday night, from morphine poisoning. His wife and a hired man are under arrest, charged with the crime. Black is said to be worth $50,000.

LIZZIE

A Story of the Sycamore Powder Mills.

BY "TIMMIE."

CHAPTER IV.

Carrington caught his breath as if he had received a blow, then slowly releasing he hand, said:

"Do you love any one else?"

"No. I care for no one in the way you mean. I like you better than one else, but I don't love you. I don't think I know what love is yet."

"Do you think you could learn to love me?"

"I don't know."

"Will you try?"

"Yes, I will try, but Miss Raymond says you will never think of any one at Sycamore Mills when you go to Chicago—that you probably have a dozen sweethearts there and are only amusing yourself with me."

"So that's where the trouble lies, is it? Well, Miss Raymond may understand the art of teaching the young ideas how to shoot but she is not well versed in the mysteries of the human heart—mine at any rate. I told you I loved you and no one but you, and I am willing and anxious to prove it to you any way I can. Are you willing to do anything I ask you? Only try me and see there is nothing in reason I will not gladly do to prove the consuming unutterable love that fills my heart for you."

She raised her innocent blue eyes to his face and said, "Go back to Chicago tomorrow. Do not write to me for one year. At the expiration of that time, if you are still of the same mind, come to the Sycamore Mills."

"And find you married to some one else."

"No, I promise you I will not—I never break a promise."

"Then I will say good bye to you here as I will leave before you are awake in the morning. And you won't let me write you one letter, just one—to tell you I reached home safely?"

Lizzie shook her head. "No, there must be absolute silence between us for a year; I wish to test your powers of memory and your constancy."

"Twelve months is a long time little girl, but one year from today, God willing, I expect to stand with you in this same lane, down which we have taken so many well remembered walks, clasp your hand in mind, look steadfastly in your sweet, blue eyes, and say, 'I am here, I've been true; now let my hungering heart hear the words you refused me one year ago.'"

By this time they were nearing the house. Carrington stopped and softly said, "Sweetheart, I don't suppose you would let me kiss you?"

For answer, Lizzie snatched a leaf from a sumach bush, passed it lightly across her lips, and threw it to him, then ran laughingly in the house. Carrington followed with a gleam of satisfaction sparkling in his eyes.
